What college(s) did you attend and what is your degree?

- I graduated from Louisiana State University in August 2015 with a Bachelors Degree in Marketing.

What are your hobbies?

- Although the majority of my time is consumed by my job, in my free time, I do enjoy traveling, spending time with my friends and family and playing with my new puppy, Gunner!

What year did you graduate from PJP?

- I graduated from PJP in 2010.

- All of my favorite memories at PJP revolve around being a member of the Varsity Cheerleading team all four years of high school.

Are there any major events that have occurred in your life since your time at PJP that you would like to share?

- Other than finding a major in college that really fit me (Marketing was my seventh major), finally graduating and finding a job that I absolutely love and enjoy is really the only major event that have occurred in my life.

How do you feel like you have given back to the community?

- In my last semester of college, I was the Marketing Intern for the Louisiana Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation. In my short time there, I was able to learn all about people diagnosed with Type One Diabetes and help to find a cure. Using marketing tactics I learned throughout my time at LSU, I was able to help put together different fundraisers and events and raise money to fund the research needed to help find a cure. Being able to reach out to different families in their time of need and really be there to support them and answer any questions they had was one of the most rewarding experiences of my life!
