

TEACHER FEATURE OF THE WEEK: MRS. MARSHA BOURGEOIS

Mrs. Bourgeois is an important part of PJP, in her 29th year of cultivating young minds and hearts here. She was educated on a ship - a traveling school - and has been to 32 different countries and all 50 US states! She even met her husband Michael on a ship, and had their first date in Hong Kong. Mrs. Bourgeois used to be a bookkeeper, but abandoned numbers for language as the Chair of the English Department at PJP. She stays busy with many extra-curricular activities, including Sanctity of Life club, Liturgy Team, Quiz Bowl and Adoration Team. When asked why she chose PJP, her immediate response was Catholicism. Mrs. Bourgeois also embraces the family and community culture at the school, and is proud that all students are encouraged to explore who they are and who God wants them to be. Most importantly, there is a daily connection to the school's namesake: She truly believes that staff and faculty see Pope John Paul II in every student every day. He is a part of us!
